About Brent Wm. Primus, J.D.

Brent is currently the C.E.O. of Primus Law Office, P.A. and the CEO of transportlawtexts, inc.

In addition to receiving the “Transportation Lawyer of the Year” award presented by the Transportation & Logistics Council Brent has authored or edited major transportation works including:

- Editor of Freight Claims in Plain English, 4th Ed. – “the book” for freight claims
- Author of Motor Carrier Contracts Annotated
- Co-author of U.S. Domestic Terms of Sale and INCOTERMS 2010
- Author of 2015 Update to Transportation, Logistics and the Law

Since 2007, Brent has authored more than 50 “Parcel Counsel” columns for Parcel Magazine. He has also authored articles for Logistics Management Magazine and the Transportation Lawyers Journal.

Brent first presented the “Transportation, Logistics and the Law” course in 2006. Since then he has presented the course more than 70 times sponsored by the Transportation & Logistics Council, Transportation Intermediaries Association, Parcel Forum, and various private in-house seminars.

Brent represented the shipper before the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Court of Appeals in the leading decision of United Shipping v. General Mills which set the stage for transportation contracting in a de-regulated environment.

Brent represented the plaintiffs in AVR, Inc., et al v. Churchill Truck Lines, Inc., et al. which was a class action lawsuit that resulted in the refund of $1.4 million dollars of freight overcharges for the shipper and broker customers of Churchill Truck Lines, Inc.

Brent’s success in the Churchill case led him to receive the Transportation Lawyer of the Year Award presented by the Transportation and Logistics Council.
